

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

RULES OF ENTRY IN THE AMERICAN SADDLE HORSE REGISTER, GOVERNING ENTRIES IN THIS VOLUME

Rule 1. A stallion by registered sire and out of a registered dam.

Rule 2. A mare or gelding whose sire or dam is registered and who traces on other side to registered or foundation saddle stock.

Rule 3. Stallion or mare, the progeny of a registered sire out of a thoroughbred dam, the dam to be recorded in American Stud Book. (Name and number must be given.)

The American Saddle-Horse Breeders Association was organized in the city of Louisville, April 7, 1891. A number of the leading breeders of saddle horses were present and participated in the preliminary proceedings. The Association was duly chartered according to Chapter 56 of the Revised Statutes of Kentucky. The Constitution and By-Laws were adopted in due form.

THE DENMARKS

Continuation of the Analysis of the Preponderating Influence of This Blood in the Development of the American Saddle-Horse, From "The American Saddle-Horse," by David Castleman.

In continuing the analysis through the entries in Volume IV it is more apparent that only one son of Denmark F. S. needs further consideration. All except Gaines' Denmark 61 dwindle into insignificance, and as his tribe increases even more richly does he earn his title of "The" Denmark. And the same rule of elimination affects the sons of "The" Denmark.

Washington Denmark 64 and Diamond Denmark 68 are the only two worthy of tabulation.

The process of the survival of the fittest is carried similarly to the next generation, in both instances. The sons of Washington Denmark 64, whose progeny are sufficiently numerous to warrant percentage calculation, are King William 67 and Crigler's Denmark, the progenitor of the great Rex family. This horse, being unregistered, the per cent of his offspring is not calculated.

The author has repeatedly urged that the Association register this dead sire. No authority to do this is vested except in the Association, and even at the risk of the matter being out of place here, this action is strongly urged and admirers of the Rex family urged to action. This accomplished and the author will gladly do the work of calculating the percentage of his blood out of love for his splendid old son, Rex Denmark 840, and his insignificant grandson, Rex McDonald 833. And then, in the case of Diamond Denmark 68, the one son whose blood continues sufficiently active to warrant calculation, is Montrose 106. The other son considered up to Volume IV, Mark Diamond 49, amounts to nothing in comparison.

Once more to put it in figures. Of the 3,000 entries in this volume 1,282 have direct male trace to the Foundation Sire, or a percentage of 42.7 per cent. Of these "The" Denmark has 1,277 or practically a perfect percentage. This would give the Foundation Sire 7,311 of the 11,977, or a percentage of 61.4. In the four volumes "The" Denmark has 7,301 of his great sire's 7,311, or almost a total.

And of the sons of "The" Denmark, "the greatest of these" Washington Denmark 64, has 1,065 of his great sire's 1,277, or a percentage of 83.4.

The other son of "The" Denmark, Diamond Denmark 68, has a total of 122, or nearly 11.5 per cent. In the four volumes Washington Denmark 64 has 5,583 of the 7,301 of "The" Denmark, or a percentage of not quite 76.5.

In the same way Diamond Denmark has a total of 1,025, or practically 14 per cent.

Now to consider the splendid son of Washington Denmark 64, viz.: King William 67. Of his sire's total to date of 5,583, "Old Blind Billy" got a percentage of just a shade over 61.4, or 3,536 in figures.

The remainder of the trace through "The Greatest of These" is primarily due to Crigler's Denmark, but considerable credit is just to Stonewall Jackson 72 and Cromwell 73. The reason for Cromwell's inability to rank higher in the percentage column has already been cited, but the author wishes to emphasize his belief in the value of the Denmark blood through this line. The use of it through the male, in addition to its own great value, will do much to obviate the tendency to inbreed the Black Squirrel blood and leave us an opening without seeking outside crosses. The reverse proposition is also true, and the suggestion can be too strongly emphasized.

The sage of us all, "Uncle" Robert Bond, can outreach a revivalist on that subject.

Then we come to the son of Diamond Denmark 68, Montrose 106. In the volume published, Montrose 106 has 789 of Diamond Denmark 68's 1,025, or a percentage of almost 77.

The Morgan still holds sufficient place to show the realization of the value of his blood on the dam's side. Of the 11,977 there is direct male trace to Justin Morgan of just a shade under 6 per cent, or in figures 714.

Mambrino Chief (11) is due the credit of 1,449 male traces, or not quite 12.1 per cent.

Of the remaining 15 per cent to be considered, we are almost entirely in the debt of one breeder. Our friend Col. John T. Woodford has saved for us the blood of Edwin Forrest 1901, through his sons to Forrest Denmark 153, largely combined with blood of Blue Jeans 3, and in addition thus preserved to us the characteristics of the blood of Gen'l Taylor 84. The cross of this blood with the direct Denmark has been admirable, and we are in the debt of the co-breeder for his affection for these crosses.

The tabulated pedigree of Denmark F. S. is republished for reference.

"KING" (WILSON'S) No. 2196.

When this registration was made in Vol. V. old series, there being a horse of the name of "KING", already registered, the parenthetical addition was made. The number in the Register is supposed to sufficiently identify an entry, and, in order to prevent a lengthening of names, the Registrar in the Revised Volumes has omitted the part of a name in parenthesis—Thus "KING" No. 2196, is the same as "KING" (WILSON'S) No. 2196. And so of many others which bore parenthetical additions to their names in the earlier volumes. Parenthetical designation although unnecessary will be inserted where desired.

I. B. NALL, Secretary.

FOUNDATION STOCK

The list of Foundation Stock of this Association was revised at the meeting of the stockholders, April, 1902. Some stallions heretofore in that list were removed and given numbers in the Register, for the reason, in some cases, that their sires had been admitted to the list since they were so admitted; in other cases it was thought that some of them had not a sufficient number of descendants in the Register to entitle them to be continued in the list.

After revision, the list stands as follows:

Denmark (thoroughbred), by Imp. Hedgeford.
 John Dillard, by Canada Chief (Canadian).
 Tom Hal (imported from Canada).
 Cabell's Lexington, by Gist's Black Hawk (Morgan).
 Coleman's Eureka (thoroughbred and Morgan).
 Van Meter's Waxy (thoroughbred).
 Stump-the-Dealer (thoroughbred).
 Peter's Halcorn.
 Davy Crockett.
 Pat Cleburne, by Benton's Gray Diomed.

THE BREEDING OF MAMBRINO PATCHEN

President Castleman read the following paper at the annual meeting of the American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association, April, 1903, and a motion was adopted instructing the Secretary to publish same in Vol. V. (Old Series) of the Saddle-Horse Register:

To the Members of the American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association:

Sirs—In 1854 the Hon. James B. Clay brought to Kentucky Mambrino Chief No. II, and put him in the stud at Ashland, near Lexington. Mambrino Chief attracted unusual attention. The writer saw the stallion when he first came to Lexington, and continued to be familiar with him and with his get up to the beginning of the Confederate War in 1861.

There had rarely been, then or since, so coarse a stallion in any stud in Kentucky. He was approximately 16 hands high, dark bay, coarse headed, coarse eared, plain bodied, coarse legged, and coarse hoofed.

No fine colt was ever sired by Mambrino Chief. He produced speed, but not finish. He never sired any black colt, and no horse or mare, credited to him in the stud books is credited with ever having produced any black or chestnut except Mambrino Patchen No. 58. To verify this opinion, Samuel J. Look, Esq., and the writer have critically examined Wallace's American Trotting Register from its earliest publication, and to the courtesy of Turf, Field and Farm we are indebted for the following letter, with list of offspring credited to the Mambrino Patchen family:

Office of Turf, Field and Farm,

New York, February 27, 1903.

General John B. Castleman, Louisville, Ky.:

Dear General—In looking up Mambrino Chief, the Stud Book and Register mentions only his sons and daughters that acquired standard through records or progenies of record horses. Mambrino Patchen is the only black son of Mambrino Chief. The memoranda I enclose were the result of a search by one of the office force.

Very truly,

HAMILTON BUSBEY.

I personally knew Dr. Herr, who bred and owned Mambrino Patchen. I repeatedly called to Dr. Herr's attention the fact that the Denmarks were the most beautiful and the most versatile of all horses, and were entitled to the credit of Mambrino Patchen, who was marked by the most distinguishing characteristics of the Denmark family. Perhaps in no family of horses has there ever been demonstrated such prepotency in transmission of personal appearance. These characteristics were transmitted by Mambrino Patchen to his sons and daughters.

In 1881 I was President of the Louisville Fair Association, and Dr. Herr was induced to number the beautiful Mambrino King among the great list of stallions shown at that fair. Over and over again I mentioned to Dr. Herr that if Gaines Denmark were living and could be stood by the side of Mambrino King, the striking resemblance would satisfy any one as to the source of Mambrino King's exceptional beauty. Dr. Herr then and always deprecated discussion which would disturb the accepted opinion as to Mambrino Patchen's paternity.

It was the repeated assertions on this point that led Dr. Herr in his catalogue of Forrest Park, issued in 1876, to make reference to the "slandorous and envious reports." In this catalogue Dr. Herr mentions the "style at both ends" as the common heritage of the Mambrino Patchen family.

In the list of fifteen stallions and geldings by Mambrino Patchen and his sons, eight are black and three are chestnut and three are double gaited. In the list of twenty-one mares by Mambrino Patchen and his sons, five are black and five are chestnut and two are double gaited.

The dam of Mambrino Patchen was a good bay mare called the "Rodes mare," because she belonged to the Rodes family, in Fayette County, Ky. I knew the Rodes mare and I knew Levi Rodes, Esq., her owner. She was a very well bred mare, with a strong infusion of Messenger blood.

The Rodes mare was the dam of a good looking, strong bay filly by Mambrino Chief, foaled in 1856; and this filly was bought and owned and driven by my personal friend, George Dunlap, of Fayette County, and was known as "the Dunlap mare." I very well knew the "Dunlap mare," and owned one of the same age out of Betty Blake, by Brown Pilot, and these two fillies contended for supremacy on the road and at the Lexington Fair. The Dunlap mare was not fine, and had much of the personal appearance common to the get of Mambrino Chief.

This mare at three years old became the property of Dr. L. Herr. She developed into a wonderful trotting mare, and was raced by Dr. Herr under the name of Maid of Ashland, and was subsequently known as "Lady Thorn." After this Lady Thorn became a very great mare. Dr. Herr bought her dam, known then and since as the "Rodes mare," and in 1861 sent her to the farm of Willis F. Jones, Esq., to be bred to Mambrino Chief. Willis F. Jones was then the owner both of Mambrino Chief No. II and of Gaines Denmark, by Denmark (th), by Imp. Hedgeford. The Confederate War had begun and Willis Jones had gone to the Confederate Army, and a negro stud groom was in charge of Mambrino Chief and of Gaines Denmark, standing in the same stable. On September 8, 1862, Gaines Denmark was sent to Woodburn for safe keeping. (Information furnished by Lucas Brodhead, Esq.)

Mambrino Chief was, as I have hitherto described him, and all of his colts were plain. Gaines Denmark was a black horse with white hind feet, a horse of most remarkable personal beauty, and transmitting to his offspring exquisite beauty and grace, "style at both ends." Mambrino Chief, as is shown, never got a black colt. Black was a color common to the Denmarks. In 1862 a black colt of exceptional beauty was foaled by the "Rodes mare," and was named Mambrino Patchen.

The following correspondence is published:

Louisville, Ky., October 9, 1902.

Hon. Thomas M. Field, Versailles, Ky.:

Dear Sir—You are personally more familiar with the facts in relation to the breeding of Mambrino Patchen than any one now living.

You have personal knowledge of the facts that at Mr. Willis Jones' stable, on his farm in Woodford County, Ky., there were kept in the early part of the Confederate War both Mambrino Chief No. II (Standard Register) and Gaines Denmark No. 61 (American Saddle-Horse Register).

You are in a general way familiar with the breeding of the Rodes mare (dam of Mambrino Patchen) to both of these stallions, and you have particular knowledge of the circumstantial evidence which clearly indicated the paternity of Mambrino Patchen. I have pleasure to ask that you will inform me as to these facts and evidences.

The late Dudley M. Ball, Esq., your neighbor and friend, gave me verbally a particular statement as to his knowledge of all the proof which this letter is designed to elicit, but I neglected to get from him a written statement.

I remain, dear sir, yours very truly,
(Signed)

JOHN B. CASTLEMAN.

Versailles, Ky., November 9, 1902.

General John B. Castleman, Louisville, Ky.:

Dear General—Yours of the 9th ulto. I found awaiting my return from Missouri. I hasten to reply.

Major Willis Jones, who owned both Mambrino Chief and Gaines Denmark, left both at his home in Woodford County, Ky., when he joined the Southern Army, was my intimate friend and near blood relation.

These horses were very unlike. Mambrino Chief was a large, angular horse; the other, Gaines Denmark, was a beautiful creation, exquisitely neat and fine. As Mambrino Patchen grew his beauty and conformation were noted, and his resemblance to Gaines Denmark commented on. Some believed he was sired by Denmark because of his marked resemblance. I, however, never heard any positive proof given, but for many years it has been a subject of contention.

D. M. Ball, Mason Henry, Press Gray, Logan Railey, and others in Woodford were pronounced in belief that he was sired by Denmark.

I have the honor to be, sincerely your friend,
(Signed)

THOMAS M. FIELD.

Pisgah, Ky., March 15, 1903.

General J. B. Castleman, Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir—I knew Gaines Denmark and Mambrino Chief when Willis Jones stood them in Woodford County. I bred to Mambrino Chief. I knew Mambrino Patchen. He was very much like Gaines Denmark and very much unlike Mambrino Chief. It was the general impression that he (Mambrino Patchen) was by Gaines Denmark, as I always believed he was, but know nothing about it.

Yours truly,

Woodford County.

(Signed)

JNO. T. GAY.

John W. Marr, of Georgetown, Ky., writes that it was conceded that Mambrino Chief was impotent in 1861—and to his death thereafter. It is certain that but one foal of that year was credited to Mambrino Chief.

Pisgah, Ky., March 15, 1903.

General J. B. Castleman, Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir—I knew both Mambrino Chief and Gaines Denmark when Willis Jones stood them in Woodford County, and bred to both of them.

I believed, as did every one else that knew Mambrino Patchen, that he was by Gaines Denmark, as Jones stood both horses at the same time.

Yours truly,

Woodford County.

(Signed)

J. W. McILWAIN.

I am aware that more than forty years have passed since Mambrino Patchen was foaled, and I am aware of the difficulty attending the establishment of a fact by circumstantial testimony. I am equally aware of the fact that beyond the admitted statement that the Rodes mare was sent to the farm of Major Willis F. Jones, to be bred to Mambrino Chief in 1861, there is no reason to believe that she became in foal to Mambrino Chief.

It is certain that Gaines Denmark was in the same stable. It is certain that when the Rodes mare foaled, this foal was of color and finish which no colt of Mambrino Chief ever did possess.

I have been personally familiar in a general way with the origin and development of the Standard horse, and I have shared with other horse-loving Americans an enthusiastic pride in this American product. I love the Standard (trotting) horse.

I have also been personally familiar with the origin and development of the American-bred saddle horse, and I am greatly devoted to this American horse. These two families of horses are absolutely American. Their interests are joint, and their families in many lines interwoven. The promoters of the American saddle horse have carefully adhered to the type which has perpetuated finish along with action. Those devoting themselves entirely to the Standard horse have too much lost sight of finish in ambition for speed.

My bringing this question now to your attention is because of a well considered belief that it is due to the great Denmark family to be credited with the foundation of the most beautiful of all the families of Standard (trotting) horses.

Jno. W. Marr, Esq., of Georgetown, Ky., called attention to the fact that it was generally conceded that "Mambrino Chief" in 1861 was impotent. Certain it is that there does not seem to be of record but one horse credited to him as his get of that year.

THE AMERICAN SADDLE HORSE

By JOHN B. CASTLEMAN.

Louisville, Ky.

[Reprint from Nineteenth Annual Report of the Bureau of Animal Industry (1902).]

PERIODS OF DEVELOPMENT

Out of the needs of men grow the utilities of each age. Back in the days when the nation was young, and the hardest of our heroes were beginning to go beyond the original thirteen states, the roads were few and bad. Even the paths were limited in number, and the use of vehicles was almost impossible. There was need of a peculiarly adapted horse, for of necessity the people depended upon horse-back riding for long-distance travel as well as shorter trips. The horse that was wanted was one that could carry the rider with ease and not distress himself in the task. He was to travel long distances at a steady rate of speed; to be sure-footed; to be intelligent and tractable and hardy. This was the need; and out of the need came the ancestor of the magnificent American Saddle Horse. The ancestor was very different from the finished product of to-day.

In the beginning the horse was bred for use only; but as time passed the inevitable taste for luxury crept in. There came demand for beauty as well as utility, and the insistence on beauty has become more pronounced each year, and the developed American Saddle Horse has been the result.

Virginia and the South Atlantic States had given much attention to racing, and were even then breeders of the thoroughbred. The only other source of importation was from Canada. There they had raised a hardy little horse, said to be a cross of the French importations with generally such stallions as could be obtained from New York and New England. Whatever these Canadian horses were, they had some of the qualities required for man's comfort, and the Canadian had given much attention to the development of the pace, or "amble." Many of these horses were pacers; and our forefathers bred these Canadian mares to thoroughbred stallions. After a while it was noticed that certain lines of thoroughbred blood produced better results than others; and it is remarkable to note now how great saddle sires trace to the same origin. The horse that man needed as a saddle horse began to be produced.

The majority of the horses brought by the pioneer settlers of Kentucky were of this nondescript breed. They had no recorded pedigrees. Their breed had even no distinguishing name beyond the indefinite designation of "saddlers." In the meantime the older States had been developing, and there the need for the "saddler" grew less as better roads were built and vehicles came into use; but in Kentucky and all the newer States the need for the riding horse was imperative.

And so it is that in all ages people adapt their transportation to the conditions which surround them, and gradually conform to the desire for increased comfort and luxury. In new countries the horse's back transports man and merchandise, and, as countries develop and roads are made and railroads built, the horse's back is relieved by the wheeled conveyance and his shoulders perform the duties which his back had previously rendered, till, finally, the steam engine does the work of transportation and lightens the burden of man's best friend. In the transportation of man and produce, the easier gait is at all times a necessity in most countries where the horse is primarily used, and the ambling horse has been utilized in many countries for several centuries. As means of cheap and easy transportation are multiplied and the necessity for the saddle horse is thus gradually diminished, there is a corresponding diminution in the necessity for easier gaits. When used for mere exercise of the master, any horse obtainable is put in use and is called a "saddle horse," as in all the world any horse used for driving is called a "road horse."

The Standard, or Trotting, Horse.

But we know the "road horse" as being that horse which has sprung chiefly from the loins of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of road horses, foaled in 1849, which in more than fifty years has produced a family distinctive in breed, in conformation, and in performance, and which we have come to recognize as the Standard, or trotting, horse. This horse, thus bred and trained, is known throughout the world as an American horse. We have in this country developed no great family of heavy horses and we have developed no family of small horses, but nature, and taste, and necessity, and conservatism have combined to bring into being that horse which all of these influences have presented to the world as an American horse, the result of American selection and American training. And now it is that he is carried to the Old World—for pleasure sometimes, sometimes for the stud; and as the strains of the older country are grafted upon this American production, a great horse is being propagated with a view to building there, as we have here, the type contributing to the pleasure of man.

The Origin and Development of the American Saddle Horse.

Back beyond this Standard horse is an American family antedating by ten years the foundation of the trotting family, when there came into Fayette County, Ky., a thoroughbred stallion, foaled in 1839, called "Denmark." There was produced from this horse's progeny the great family of what we know as the American Saddle Horse. The sire of this Denmark was an imported English thoroughbred, known as "Imported Hedgeford," foaled in 1825, brought to America in 1832. When Denmark was brought to Kentucky, he was bred to a fine and easy-gaited mare known as the "Stevenson mare," and this mare produced colts known as "Gaines' Denmark," "Rob Roy," and "Muir's Denmark." Gaines' Denmark, bred by careful selection, produced great stallions, and by continued adherence to type came the family as distinctive in conformation and manner and gait as is the Standard horse, differing somewhat from other horses, finer than any, and more useful than all.

The hereditary ability to learn the easy gaits of the saddle horse doubtless comes from the ambling horse, on which the thoroughbred was originally crossed; but the tendencies of the American Saddle Horse need to be developed, just as the hereditary trotting tendencies need to be developed, and the hereditary tendency in either is manifest by training.

The American Saddle Horse and the Standard horse are nowhere else to be found. Both alike are American, and entitled to the respect and consideration of the world everywhere. Sometimes it appears that the saddle-bred horse shows great speed in harness, and sometimes it is that the Standard-bred horse shows adaptability to the saddle; but these instances in either case are exceptional.

It very often appears that the saddle mare crossed upon the Standard stallion produces a great trotter. Generally it is that the saddle-bred stallion on the saddle-bred mare produces finish and beauty and utility, useful under the saddle either in the roughest or in the easiest gaits, useful in light harness, and adaptable and beautiful always. The reproduction of uniformity of type is in no other breed of horses more marked than in the American Saddle Horse.

My personal intimacy with the most noted of this family of horses is altogether exceptional, for I have since early boyhood in my native county of Fayette, in the State of Kentucky, been personally familiar with and had personal acquaintance with the great sires and dams which have founded the Denmark family—deemed to be by all odds the greatest family of the saddle-horse breed.

I rode representatives of this breed during four years of the war, and served in a regiment and division whose mounts were generally similarly bred. It was with such mounts that this extraordinary regiment of men were enabled in repeated cases, with ease to the horse and ease to the rider, to make great marches in the rapid walk characteristic of this horse.

The characteristics of the race horse are dominant in this breed, and the absence of the fine eye, ear, neck, head, and shoulder are accepted as indicating the want of an infusion of such blood as flows through the veins of the best families of the gaited saddle horse. It has not been possible by crossing another breed to maintain or secure, other than in exceptional cases, that character, form, action, and life which mark distinctively the gaited saddle horse.

Personally I have, as a matter of experience, as numerous others have done, given trial to trotting mares and others crossed upon the best blood of the saddle horse, and while occasionally the progeny is all that one should want, there is no uniformity of result. A good infusion of the race horse, sufficiently filtered to impart the high quality and substance demanded for the saddle horse, and produced by careful selection and adherence to type, is found to be essential in obtaining the best results.

For the better protection of the saddle horse through adherence to a recognized type, there was organized in 1891 the National Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association, and the register so provided has already had vast influence in the accomplishment of the ends desired. Better care in breeding has been stimulated and more rigid selections have followed. In 1893, when prizes were awarded in breeding classes at the World's Columbian Exposition, all saddle horses were required to be registered with this Association as a condition precedent to competing.

There are other strains of horses used and chosen for riding purposes everywhere, but nowhere else, so far as I know, is there a distinct type bred or adhered to and designated as a breed of saddle horses. After the first volume of this register was printed in 1892, Col. John H. Ward, of Louisville, an able gentleman and an enthusiastic horseman, made a critical examination of the register and wrote me the result of this examination, using the following language:

Louisville, Ky., December 23, 1895.

Dear Sir—As requested, I send you herewith an outline of the thoroughbred race blood of the 1,081 entries in volume 1 of the National Saddle-Horse Breeders' Register:*

*Name changed to American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association on April 7, 1899.

An examination of the second, third, and fourth volumes, and entries for the fifth volume, shows about the same ratio of thoroughbred blood.

It is a matter of fact that the breeders of the American Saddle Horse have found it essential always to preserve and propagate a strong infusion of thoroughbred blood, giving thus the finish, the courage, and the beauty which the cross with the thoroughbred has been found to produce. And now, since more than a half century's skillful breeding has thoroughly established the type, it is found that there is no horse anywhere whose characteristics are more certainly transmitted than those of the American Saddle Horse. Therefore it is that the stallions of the American Saddle Horse, judiciously crossed, produce horses of the highest utility—produce the best horse for the range; produce the best cavalry horses that can be found in the world, having the greatest intelligence, the fastest walk, the easiest canter, and the clearest trot.

The civil war came and arrested the production of the American Saddle Horse. Stallions, mares, and geldings were sought for cavalry service; and with the end of the war came a craze for the Standard (trotting) horse. The high prices commanded for the trotter tempted even the most enthusiastic breeders of the saddle horse to stud their mares to trotting horses; and to this practice is now traced many of the greatest horses on the trotting turf.

When the studbook of the American Saddle Horse was published there were inserted as foundation stock (just as the foundation stock of the Standard horse is provided in his original studbook) stallions thought to be worthy of the distinction by reason of breeding and production. In most of these foundation stallions there was a strong admixture of thoroughbred blood, and most of them traced their lineage to the great dam of Denmark, and possibly owe to this origin their reproduction of the American Saddle Horse.

Col. I. B. Nall, secretary of the American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association, wrote as follows on this subject:

When the Association determined on this matter, the blood of the saddle horse had been too greatly dissipated in the effort to produce trotters and pacers for the track. Some of the saddle-bred mares had produced, when bred to trotting stallions, some of the best and fastest trotters, and the tide was fast turning in that direction. We find to-day a trotting cross in the pedigree of many of the fashionably-bred saddle horses. Sometimes it is well; sometimes it produces a coarseness altogether unsuitable for our purposes, as a saddler for the show ring must, above all, be handsome and stylish. Breeders have found out where these experiments have proved disappointing, and now get away from them.

I am led to these conclusions by seeing a yearling, bred in royal saddle lines, exhibited at the Kentucky fairs this season, and winning in every ring in which he enters. I refer to the colt Goodwin 1227, bred by General Castleman, sired by Highland Denmark 730, and having as his dam the noted World's Fair winner Emily 855. Through his sire Goodwin gets the noted Denmark blood, as well as a dash of it through the dam's sire. He also gets the Dave Akin cross of thoroughbred, a well-known "nick," and through his dam a John Dillard cross equally valuable. In this youngster is a concentration of the very best saddle blood, and through excellent specimens of the breed. A fine colt was looked for and expectations were fully realized. I shall not attempt a description here. It may not be possible for every breeder to bring forth a sire and dam of so much excellence, but the nearer he approaches it, I think, the more profitable will be his venture.

We have heard of some fanciers decrying the attempt to maintain a register of saddle horses, seeming to believe that the start for a pedigree register must be by importation from some foreign country. Do they never stop to inquire how the breeds were established in such countries? Was not the breed of Jersey cattle made by careful selection and exclusion on the Channel Islands? Every class somewhere must have some such origin.

It may be said, though, that scrutiny of pedigree of the best saddle-horse will reveal in most cases that the blood of the thoroughbred predominates. But while this is true, a breeder could make no greater mistake than to suppose that any thoroughbred will do. He must look for his blood, and he will find that it is in the best form in the veins of the sires recorded in the register of the American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association. If breeding is confined to such, with care as to selecting individuality as well as prepotency, the future is safe. This course alone will enable us, when we want a saddle horse, to breed one.

Foundation Stock.

In 1901, after ten years of careful work, the American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association appointed a committee to report a revision of the foundation stock and extension and tabulation of pedigrees, and to comply with the recommendations made.

The list of foundation stock of this Association was revised at the meeting of the stockholders in April, 1902. Some stallions heretofore in that list were removed and given numbers in the register for the reason, in some cases that their sires had been admitted to the list since they were so admitted; in other cases it was thought that some of them had not a sufficient number of descendants in the register to entitle them to be continued in the list.

After revision, the list stands as follows:

Denmark (thoroughbred), by Imp. Hedgeford.
 John Dillard, by Canada Chief (Canadian).
 Tom Hal (imported from Canada).
 Cabell's Lexington, by Gist's Black Hawk (Morgan).
 Coleman's Eureka (thoroughbred and Morgan).
 Van Meter's Waxy (thoroughbred).
 Stump-The-Dealer (thoroughbred).
 Peter's Halcorn.
 Davy Crockett.
 Pat Cleburne, by Benton's Gray Diomed.

Pedigrees of Denmark, Etc.—Report of Committee on Extension and Tabulation of Pedigrees.

To the Members of the American Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association:

Mr. President and Gentlemen—Your committee on the revision, extension, and tabulation of the pedigrees of the foundation and other important sires, begs to submit the following report:

In the case of Denmark, it was deemed advisable to pay him the compliment of extending his pedigree to the sixth generation. In all instances the effort to extend to the fifth generation was deemed sufficient, except where it seemed desirable to show some particular blood line.

In all work, clerical and other, errors will creep in, and this is the explanation of the error in the pedigree of Denmark as given in the first volume of the register of this Association. The correctly tabulated pedigree of Denmark is submitted, without comment, the committee believing that the heritage of fame brought this great horse by his posterity could not be brightened by any mere words.

In the case of John Dillard, the investigation of your committee leads to the conclusion that this horse was sired by Canada Chief, and it is recommended that Canada Chief be accepted as the sire.

Your committee was able to add but little to the pedigree, but it is extended on the dam's side in order to show that Lady Jackson, the dam of John Dillard, was out of a daughter of Blackburn's Whip, and he was by Imp. Whip, and he by Imp. Saltram. Now, Imp. Saltram got the Saltram mare, who was the dam of Jenny Cockracy, and she produced Betsey Harrison (dam of Denmark), and Susette,* who produced Berthune, the sire of Van Meter's Waxy.

*This name is spelled both "Susette" and "Suzette" in the Register (Vol IV), but the first method prevails and is adopted here.—Ed.

In the case of Tom Hal, your committee is unable to add anything to what has been published in the volumes of the register.

In the case of Coleman's Eureka, the most painstaking investigation fails to enable your committee to add anything to what has already been published.

Van Meter's Waxy is unquestionably a thoroughbred horse. On his dam's side, however, it is impossible to extend the pedigree. Mr. Ben F. Van Meter endeavored to aid your committee, but was only able to reaffirm the pedigree as given, and ascribe the inability to trace it out on the dam's side to the same short-sighted policy that seems to actuate so many saddle-horse men at the present day in their carelessness as regards pedigrees. Mr. Van Meter says there is no question but that Old Jenny was a thoroughbred mare, and was left out of the studbooks with so many good horses at the time Mr. Bruce was compiling it. On the sire's side the pedigree of Van Meter's Waxy is most interesting. He was by Berthune (th.), who was out of Susette, and Susette was a full sister to Betsy Harrison, the dam of Denmark.

Then, Berthune was sired by Sidi Hamet, who was by Virginian, who was by Sir Archy; and Sidi Hamet was out of Lady Burton, who was also by Sir Archy. Now, Sir Archy was by Imp. Diomed, who sired Potomac, and he sired Jenny Cockracy, who was the dam of Betsey Harrison and Susette. Another interesting thing is that Sidi Hamet (the sire of Berthune) was out of Lady Burton, and she was out of Sultana, who was by Black Sultan (known as the Jefferson Barb horse), and out of the Jefferson Barb mare.

Of these two Barbs, the American studbook says, in substance: "Sent as a present from the Bey of Tunis by the hand of his ambassador, Melli Melli, in the year 1806, to His Excellency Thomas Jefferson, then President of the United States, and assured by the said ambassador to be two of the highest-bred horses in that country, and selected at very considerable expense and with great care as a present worthy of his acceptance. They were sold for the benefit of the United States after the departure of Melli Melli."

Among others, the Jefferson Barb mare produced a filly by Black Sultan, called "Sultana," who was the dam of Lady Burton, by Sir Archy, one of the best brood mares this country has ever produced. As has been said, this Lady Burton was the dam of Sidi Hamet, who got Berthune, and he sired Van Meter's Waxy.

Your committee is unable to add anything to the history already published of Cabell's Lexington.

Stump-The-Dealer is a thoroughbred, recorded in the American studbooks, and his tabulated pedigree is herewith submitted. He was by Imp. Bryan O'Lynn, who was by Aston, who was by Saltram. Now, Saltram sired the Saltram mare, and she produced Betsy Haxall, who produced Aratus, and he sired Betsy Harrison (the dam of Denmark) and Susette (the dam of Berthune, who got Van Meter's Waxy).

The Saltram mare was also the dam of Jenny Cockracy, who produced Betsey Harrison and Susette.

Then Stump-The-Dealer was out of the Grey Diomed mare, who was by Grey Diomed, and he by Imp. Diomed. Now, it will be remembered that Imp. Diomed got Sir Archy, to whom Berthune, the sire of Van Meter's Waxy, twice traces. And also Imp. Diomed got Potomac, who sired Jenny Cockracy, who was the dam of both Betsey Harrison and Susette.

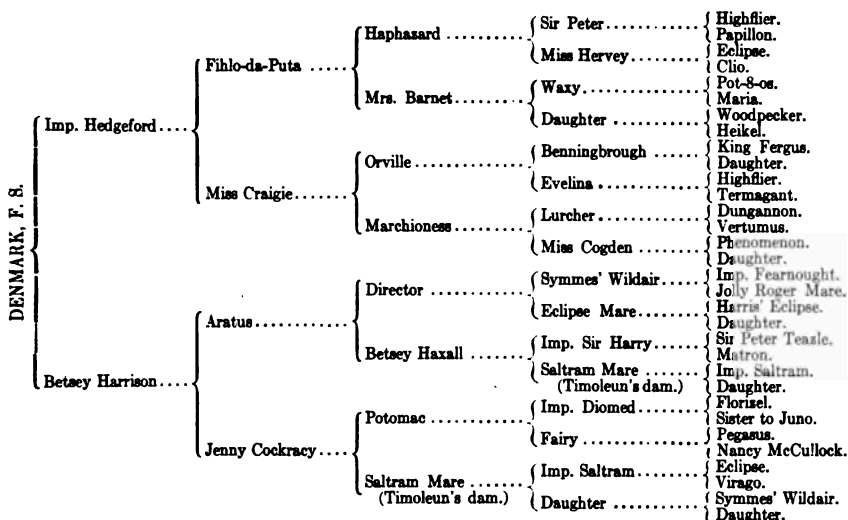

The second dam of Stump-The-Dealer was by Symmes' Wildair, who sired the dam of the Saltram mare, and also sired Director, who sired Aratus, and he sired both Betsey Harrison and Susette.

To the personal history of Stump-The-Dealer, your committee is able only to add that he was owned and run in Tennessee, and his dam was owned by Colonel Alston, of South Carolina.

Peter's Halcorn was by Virginia Halcorn, who was by Virginian, who was by Sir Archy; and so again we catch this blood. His pedigree is extended on the sire's side to the fifth generation for the purpose of showing this cross. No information in relation to his dam was obtainable.

Pedigree of Denmark.

The following hitherto unpublished communication of the distinguished writer, John H. Wallace, will doubtless attract widespread attention, even from those who do not altogether agree with his views.

Mr. Wallace's main point appears to be that no matter what made the prime elements of the American Saddle Horse of to-day, it was not the thoroughbred. I take the opposite view from this, and I do so from an experience in the making of the type of the American Saddle Horse, going generations back of the formal and systematic effort to form that type under Standard test. And I have memories in relation to this subject, gathered in touch with horsemen who, before my early days, knew of Kentucky's association with this order of horse and never thought of it separate from the thoroughbred.

The thoroughbred runner can assuredly do nothing but run; but his stock grafted on other stock has produced many of the best representations of the American "Standard horse," and lies at the very foundation of the American Saddle Horse. With Mr. Wallace's views as to the foundation of the thoroughbred we have no concern in respect of this article. It will not do, however, to confuse the saddle horse of ancient times with the beautifully finished product which has resulted from scientific breeding.

I have no theories on this subject originating apart from what I have just stated. I but know of the facts as here I have found them, and if the theory and the fact disagree, so much the worse for the theory. It is not necessary to go into ancient history to learn of the controlling blood in our present-day typical American Saddle Horse. It is the plain truth, not to be lost sight of, that he is the product of breeding of the selection, generation after generation, of the fittest for the purpose in mind, just, for instance, as is the English hunter. Every source of supply of material helpful to the end sought has been drawn upon. Do away with this principle of selection, by which it is insured that the power of the fittest counts immediately and without waste, and the intelligence of the guiding hand that goes with it, and there is reversion.

The following is the letter from John H. Wallace:

New York, December 13, 1895.

General John B. Castleman, Louisville, Ky.:

My Dear Sir—Your welcome letter, with the first and second volumes of the American Saddle-Horse Register, came safely to hand last week. These volumes of the register make it evident that the movement to establish the American Saddle Horse as a breed has been successfully inaugurated, and if intelligently carried forward will end in the achievement of the object in view. To this end I will gladly give you any assistance in my power.

A hasty examination of these volumes suggests two or three points that I will here mention without further comment.

First—Why are the animals selected as your foundation stock practically limited to the State of Kentucky? It is certainly true that the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Tennessee, to say nothing of some others, abound in old strains of pacers that might be included. Second—Why have we not something of the origin and history of Cockspur, the sire of the dam of Gaines' Denmark and the sire of the grandam of John Dillard? It was his blood that made the Denmarks a family of saddlers instead of runners, and I think he was the sire of the grandam instead of the great-grandam, as you have it, in John Dillard's pedigree. Third—Some sixty or more years ago it became a common practice to speak of every pacer as a Canadian, and of every good shapely horse, when nothing was known of his breeding, as a thoroughbred. Unfortunately, this kind of fantastic history and genealogy is still prevalent, and is to be found in greater or less measure in some of your foundation stock. You can rest assured that we are not indebted to either the Canadian or the thoroughbred for any of the essential factors going to make up the American Saddle Horse.

For the past year I have been devoting a great deal of time to the history and characteristics of the American horses of the colonial period. These researches have not been restricted to one or two colonies, but they have been extended to all on the Atlantic coast, except South Carolina. This is a field of exploration that I think is entirely new in horse history, and it extends from the first arrivals of horses in the different colonies up to the war of the Revolution. All the horses in all the colonies were brought from England, except those in New Netherlands (New York) and two, or possibly three, shiploads that were landed in Salem, Mass., from Utrecht, in Holland. These Dutch horses were larger and stouter than the English horses, some of the largest ones reaching 15 hands, and sold for higher prices on account of their greater strength, but they were not so highly prized for the saddle. They were not pacers.

From the beginning it was the custom in all colonies to brand the young stock in the spring and turn them out to find their own living till autumn drove them home. In the first half of the last century newspapers, so called, were established in many of the colonies, and one of their chief sources of advertising patronage was for horses "strayed or stolen" or "taken up." In these advertisements the age, sex, color, size, gait, and brand were generally given; and thus by taking a file of one of these papers and carefully collating all the points here indicated for a given period, we have sufficient data upon which to strike a safe average as to height, color, and habit of action. In Pennsylvania nearly all were pacers and gave the lowest average in size. In Virginia about two-thirds were pacers, with next lowest average in size. In the New England colonies the average of pacers was about the same as in Virginia, with an average of height somewhat greater, showing the influence of commingling with Dutch blood. About the time of the Revolution the Dutch horses of New York still maintained their pre-eminence in size, but in crossing with the English horses to get the saddle gaits nearly or quite one-half of them had become pacers. It may be remarked that between the earlier and later observations there was a steady increase of size, rising from about 13 to 14 hands, resulting from more careful selection and backed up by colonial regulations, forfeiting to the finder any stallion colt of two years or upward found running at large.

In 1665 Governor Nichols, the first English governor of New York, established the Newmarket course on Hempstead Plains, Long Island, and provided for meetings there every year. This was the first regularly organized racing in this country, and it was kept up, spring and fall, with some intervals, for more than a hundred years. Virginia had been racing before this, but I think there was no organized racing there till a few years later. The distance for the best purse on the Long Island course was two miles in heats, and the distance at the Virginia meetings varied from one to four mile heats. Now, all this was going on for nearly or quite one hundred years before the first English "thoroughbred," as we call them, was brought to this country. Up to the year 1750 the fingers on one hand would cover all the thoroughbred horses that had been brought to this country.

They were the ancestors of the American Saddle Horse that ran these races, and they were brought to this country before there was any infusion of Saracenic blood into the English saddle horse. It is historically certain that the saddle horses of the middle of the twelfth century ridden by the nobility and gentry of that day were pacers. The trotters were assigned to their esquires and other attendants. This is the historical pedigree of our American Saddle Horse, and I can see no reason to be ashamed of it. Those English saddle mares that could run as well as pace fast were the real foundation of the English race horse, just as their descendants of a later date were the real foundation of the American race horse.

When I commenced to think and write about the horse fifty years ago, like all other beginners of that day, I was as wild as a hawk. I was terribly afflicted with the parrot cry of that age, that the way to improve the horse or any other domestic animal was to "breed up," and I never got clear of my affliction till I sat down to the study of great collections of facts. It did not then take me long to learn that mere "breeding up" was a delusion and a humbug, and that the true way to breed was to go to the horse that possessed the qualities and could do what I wanted my colt to possess and do. In other words, [adopt] the simple formula that "like begets like." In looking back over the acts of a long life, I think if I have done anything that may live after me, it is the promulgation and support of this great central truth as applied to breeding horses. It met with much and bitter opposition for a long time, but it has now become "the law of the land."

Col. M. Lewis Clark, breeder of the thoroughbred and a great equestrian and accomplished horsemen, writing in December, 1897, in the Breeders' Gazette, used the following language:

The intelligent student of breeding first selects, by careful analysis of the studbook and racing record, the different families of blood he desires to make, and then seeks by individual study to remedy the defects in conformation of the one by the qualities presented by the other. A ride in the park of a few miles for pleasure is one thing and a seat in the saddle from sunrise to sunset is another. The park rider accepts the dictates of fashion because it is so, while the latter from necessity seeks to discover and enjoy what is proved to be a comfort to the rider and least discomfort or fatigue to the horse. Nature and science both suggest that in agriculture, as well as in other pursuits, there should be some diversity of crops—some change or rest. * * *

Few travelers going a distance but would thoroughly appreciate the comfort derived from using the educated saddle horse; and by that is meant a thoroughly trained one, capable of changing at the will of the rider to any desired gait, commencing with a square walk, going into the run-and-walk, or fox trot; then into the trot, changing into a canter, and going by a gentle pressure of the bit into a rack. The latter is an essentially made gait, though seemingly transmissible in the present time from different families that for many years have been inbred and to which the work of education seems to be but little work and entirely a pleasure.

Of course, with the work of years, it was marvelous to note what perfection was reached, and the traveler through Kentucky and Tennessee on the county court days would see hundreds of these gaited horses hitched around the court house, and the encouragement of this industry was coexistent with that of the harness horse. Wherein the superiority of the gaited saddle horse over what is called the "pack, or Eastern horse," is simply that the trained saddle horse, at the will of the rider, can do all that the other can do and more, insuring comfort and ease to the rider and the rest to himself by reason of the change in gaits, while the other horse has but the walk, trot, and canter or run, and can do none of the easy gaits of the trained saddler. It is well to remember that in the development of the trained, educated horse the different gaits are simply accomplishments to be used at the will of the rider, and are not obtrusive in any way—simply an ability to be called on when desired. Our sons and daughters are taught many accomplishments before they are supposed to be finished in their education—accomplishments which many of them never use after they complete their education, but are still capable of exercising at will. To sum it all up, the high-bred gaited saddle horses of Kentucky and Tennessee furnish to the lover of such exercise a perfect type, which has been the result of careful study, stimulated by necessity, and a result obtained only by scientific breeding, which has produced an intelligence that can be taught anything. In case the rider does not desire to take advantage of the horse's education, then his own judgment can use the gaits at will. * * *

In giving you the highest degree and development of the saddle horse and of his accomplishments, in each of which he is distinctly superior, we will still cling to a deep-seated belief, borne out by facts and without prejudice, that it is a distinct type that has evolved as the result of a necessity. The combined saddle and harness horse of intelligence, courage, and gentleness, for general utility, is really two horses in one, and is the natural result of breeding, companionship, and careful training. It takes a few generations to furnish a satisfactory result in any line of breeding, and therefore this carefully selected type is equal to responsibility, safe in accident, and a gentleman in his manners, being educated, and having graduated with all the accomplishments. Just look over a bluegrass woodland pasture, and see a lot of these well-bred youngsters in their play. Beauty, style, and action are combined with courage and intelligence, and it takes but little schooling to make them illustrate thoroughly that they are the standard of the horse that will carry weight and go a distance.

A breeder, contributing to the third volume of the American Saddle-Horse Register, and writing of the American Saddle Horse, says:

The first requisite to be considered in a saddle horse is the quality of being sure-footed; the second, that of a kind disposition, coupled with a good mouth; third, courage and ambition; fourth, the conformation of a weight carrier; fifth, gaits and manners. Neither the first qualification nor the order in which it is placed will be disputed. No stumbling horse should ever be mounted. Almost every person who has seen a horse knows the meaning of a kind disposition to a certain extent, and none can possibly appreciate it more than a rider. The saddle horse should by all means have a level head, and no one thing has tendency to produce this more than a good mouth. When drawing in the reins on a start, there should be a perceptible yielding of the lower jaw, followed by a steady pressure willingly given in such a way that the rider may at all times "feel" the horse's mouth, and the absence of a desire to pull or lug should be marked. The mouth is many times the root of all evil, and the thought of its influence upon the horse's disposition should never leave the rider's mind.

In explanation of the third qualification: By courage is meant spirit, pluck, and endurance; a desire to go just as fast as the rider may wish and no faster, and this without encouragement from whip or spur. The ability to do this is possessed by all educated saddlers as they learn to know their rider's silent signal.

Fourth, to carry weight a horse must possess a strong, level back. He must be closely coupled, legs well muscled, oblique shoulders, the hind quarter heavy, with tail set on well up. A horse with a good back rarely exceeds one inch higher at the withers than at the quarters. To use a common phrase, his outline should be that of a big little horse.

Fifth, there will always be a difference of opinion as to the order in which the last two qualifications have been given. Many will contend that the manner in which the horse performs at the different gaits should be considered before the horse as an individual. The all-day-and-all-week rider will first look at the horse in repose. Conformation being first acceptable, each gait must be well defined and willingly performed, the general manner being marked with dash and boldness. The single foot, or rack, should not have the side motion in either feet, legs, or body. The trot should be springy and even, with plenty of knee action, but not too high. The canter should be slow, with no increasing speed, and the horse be taught to lead with either leg at the command. The flat-footed walk should be reasonably fast, with no amble or swing of body. The running walk, or fox trot, should be equal to five miles an hour. These requisites are found in the American Saddle Horse to a degree not possessed by any other horse in the world.

The thoroughbred is not and can not be made a good saddle horse. His action is different from that of the saddle horse; his stride is not easy, his temper is often objectionable, but by proper selection there has been produced in the family of American saddle horses the most desirable characteristics of the thoroughbred. We have, in addition to the finish and courage, his ear, his eye, his shoulder, his coupling, his clean, hard legs.

The Breeders' Gazette says:

Rarely is a case more tersely and convincingly stated than in this indictment against the thoroughbred as a saddle horse, made public by Charles L. Railey, whose winnings of premiums with saddle horses at the prominent Western and Eastern shows classes him as one of the most successful saddle-horse educators in the country:

"Much was said and written about fixing the type of saddle horses in the National Horse Show last fall, many contending that the English expert had thrown no light upon the subject by his awards at the Garden. Rider and Driver quoted the Englishman as leaning toward the thoroughbred as the best type, but since it takes many other qualities, characteristics, and graces besides conformation to round out the saddle horse, the query becomes pertinent, Can these be found in the thoroughbred? My answer is, No. And for many reasons:

"First, he is too hot of temper, having since his creation been trained and taught to do but one thing—that is, go (run); therefore, under restraint he frets, fumes, yaws his head, then one's ride for pleasure or exercise becomes a work of labor.

"Second, the thoroughbred fills the eye to look at from the ground; on his back he is all wrong. His neck is rigid and can not be flexed into good form; as a rule he is higher over the hips than over the withers, which gives the rider a sense of pitching forward or riding down hill, as it were. He has but little flexion of the knee and hock, and this close-to-the-ground action on the walk or trot causes him to trip more frequently than any other breed of horse. In a life experience I do not recall one high-class saddle horse that was strictly a thoroughbred. I have bought many beautiful specimens of the thoroughbred, and tried faithfully to develop a saddle horse, only to find disastrous failure in each instance. The Kentucky breeder long ago realized that the thoroughbred horse was the foundation from which to build for fineness of head and neck, obliquity of shoulders, texture of coat, quality of bone, and fluted leg. And while retaining these qualities, add to them a higher carriage of head, more action, a more docile temperament, and from this idea was evolved the saddle-bred horse of Kentucky. There is no question but that the far-sightedness of the Kentucky breeder produced the most beautiful horse known in all the world."

This comes from a man who is himself a breeder of thoroughbreds, and therefore no possible animus can be charged. It is merely a statement of facts known to every man who has taken the trouble to acquaint himself with the subject. Rarely has such success attended the efforts of breeders bound together in endeavor by a common ideal as has characterized the work of the organized breeders of the American Saddle Horse. All this talk of establishing a type of saddle horse in this country is mere waste of words. A half century of breeding for a specific purpose has already established a type. Our best markets years ago recognized that type, and bought it at the highest price ever paid for saddle horses. Only those who come new to the game, or a few Rip Van Winkles in the horse world, are unaware of this fact. Mr. Railey has ample reason for saying: "I shall continue to develop and exhibit this type; it dominates the show ring, commands the top price, gives satisfaction."

The organizers of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association, who, through thick and thin, have stood out sturdily for the type, have laid users of saddle horses under a burden of enduring obligation to them for their systematic efforts to preserve, purify, and perfect the blood on which this great horse, the handsomest in the world and the most intelligent, is founded.

The American Saddle Horse as a Cavalry Horse.

The history of cavalry service shows no parallel to the continuous fast movement of the cavalry under Morgan and Forest, and this service was rendered chiefly by the American saddle-bred horse; and this horse of singular beauty and smooth, fast walk and untiring energy stood the terrible strain where horses of other breeds gave way under test of great marches.

It was not unusual to have these saddle-bred horses last through the four years of the Civil War, and it is a notable fact that one of the great progenitors of this breed of horses, Gaines' Denmark, entered the Confederate service at an advanced age, served two years with his descendants and collateral horse kin, setting his numerous offspring an example of courage and endurance, returning in 1865 to his original owner, honorably discharged as a soldier, and resumed his domestic duties.

And the great horse John Dillard, another foundation sire of the breed of the American Saddle Horse, did similar service between 1861 and 1865, sharing with Gaines' Denmark the honor of leadership and example and comradeship, as he served in camp, on hard marches, and in battle, and when the war was ended resumed his duties in developing the great family of which he was an ancestor. Wallace, as far back as five years ago, accredited twenty horses in the 2:30 list among the Standard (trotting) horses of the country to dams sired by John Dillard.

A visit a year ago to my farm by a representative of a European government for the purpose of getting information in respect of breeding cavalry horses led me to emphasize the unequaled merits of the horse whose four years of service in war had proven him to be the greatest cavalry horse of the world.

But this horse can not be bought for the very small price which our Government limits, and which limit provides a horse possessing the governmental requirements as to size and color and soundness, yet our Government prescribes nothing as to movement and breeding and consequent endurance.

Gen. Basil W. Duke, one of the most distinguished cavalry officers of the Civil War, says, in a letter to the Breeders' Gazette, published in December, 1896, the following:

I very cheerfully comply with your request that I shall furnish you an opinion, predicated on actual observation and experience, of the value of the American saddle-bred horse for military and especially cavalry service. I presume you mean to include in this term all horses of the same character—that is to say, a horse produced by a large infusion of thoroughbred blood into a hardy and serviceable inferior stock, whether bred in Kentucky or elsewhere. Many such horses, bred in Tennessee and other States south of the Ohio, were used by the Confederate cavalry during the late Civil War and largely contributed to its admitted efficiency; but it will not be denied, I believe, that the type had reached then and retains now its highest excellence in Kentucky. This fact is due, I think, to two causes: First, to the wider ramification of thoroughbred blood in Kentucky, and, secondly, to the greater amount of care in breeding—the intelligent experimental method on which all improvement in breeds and strains ultimately depends—which has been systematically practiced in Kentucky. * * *

If I be correct in my estimate of the thoroughbred, then it must be conceded that the nearer he approximates him, the better another horse will be. But the Kentucky saddle-bred horse has not only inherited in a large measure the excellence of the thoroughbred in the respects to which I have called attention, but has also retained certain desirable characteristics which have more peculiarly distinguished the humbler strain from which he is descended.

The thoroughbred horse, while speedy and in certain ways agile, is not usually so quick on his feet and alert and adroit in his movements as are the best specimens of the inferior breeds which, crossed with him, have produced the saddle horse.

His tremendous stride impairs his activity to some extent. And the reader should dismiss the idea that when "inferior breeds" are mentioned in this connection, any reference is meant to the clumsier and common stocks. The maternal strains of the saddle horse are styled "inferior" chiefly because, as has already been said, they were unpedigreed; and also because they possess in a less degree the qualities which have enabled the thoroughbred to win on the turf. While not so game and tireless as the thoroughbred, these strains nevertheless exhibit wonderful endurance under the saddle, and have a cat-like quickness and nimbleness which more than anything else contribute to form the peculiar gaits which make their descendants so valuable for the saddle. * * *

When Morgan marched from Sparta in August, 1862, to surprise a garrison at Gallatin, he accomplished the distance of fully 90 miles, including detours made to conceal his route, in about twenty-five hours. On the Ohio raid, after more than two weeks of very severe previous marching, his command, then about 2,100 strong, marched without halting from Summansville, Ind., to a point 28 miles due east from Cincinnati, a distance which may fairly be estimated at 94 miles. This march was accomplished in about thirty-five hours. Many—indeed, the greater number—of the Kentucky horses which had started on the raid performed this march without flinching; and many of them kept on to Buffington, some even bearing their riders across the Ohio River and returning to the Confederacy. The horses which had been impressed in Indiana and Ohio failed in such an ordeal, never lasting more than a day or two, and often succumbing after a ride of eight or ten hours. * * *

The saddle-bred horse is very valuable for cavalry service, because of other reasons than merely his superior powers of endurance. His smoother action and easier gaits render the march less fatiguing to the rider; he succumbs less readily to privations and exposures, and responds more cheerfully to kind and careful treatment. He acquires more promptly and perfectly the drill and the habits of the camp and march, and his intelligence and courage make him more reliable on the field.

Proper Size for the Saddle Horse.

I have felt impelled for the past twelve years to caution my associates who are interested in breeding and developing the American Saddle Horse not to be led into the error of breeding horses too large for the saddle. In the selection and adherence to type, the average height of the American Saddle Horse is approximately 15-2, and the average weight approximately 1,050, and he has endurance, substance, remarkable intelligence, courage, and docility. Under the saddle, in harness—used in either capacity—he equally adapts himself to either service, and the experience of the Civil War demonstrated that no cavalry horse of the armies of the world has ever equaled him in endurance and movement. It is not the large animal of any kind, from the highest to the lowest, that has power to endure most. By no army standard is either the giant or the dwarf, either the large man or the small man, selected to endure hard service. The large ox does not stand hard work so well as the ox of medium size. The large dog, either in the chase or in the field, is not preferred. The large mule can not stand continuous work so well as the mule of average height and weight. The Shire can not live under continuous strains that the smaller horse will easily stand. The Arabian will outlast the Percheron; the great performers of the racing turf and on the trotting turf have been horses of medium size. A very small percentage of the great runners or of the great trotters of the world have been large. All the world over this is true. Of the American horses, I may mention from the thorough-breeds—Lexington, Grey Eagle, Wagner, Aristides, Kingston, Modesty, Firenzi, Ben Brush, Sir Walter, Mirthful, Ogden, Russell, and nine-tenths of all the great runners, all under 15-2. From the Standard (trotting) horses I mention—Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Flora Temple, Goldsmith Maid, Dexter, Ethan Allen, George Wilkes, Nancy Hanks, John R. Gentry, Robert J., Jay-Eye-See, Rythmic, Tommy Britton, Dare Devil, Boreal, Boralma, Directum, Alix, Cresceus, Onward Silver, Pilatus, Alice Barnes, and nine-tenths of all the great horses of the world, all under 15-2.

What is needed is good conformation, good legs, good tempers. The breeders of the American Saddle Horse do not insist on any number of gaits. They care not whether the rider prefers one gait or five. Their wish is to furnish the horse and not to direct at what speed or at which gait he shall be ridden.

The breeders of the American Saddle Horse do not desire to discourage others in their preference for the use of the rough-riding horse, but it is their purpose to continue the development of the horse of unequaled usefulness, having the greater variety of accomplishments and unparalleled beauty, whose versatility is shown by power, endurance, and true gait; by his winning the championships in the hunter classes; by his winning the championships in the plain or three-gaited classes; by his superior qualities as a harness horse; and by his readiness always to be made use of at anything, from going any one or all of five gaits under the saddle to trotting squarely and at a good pace, and often with great speed, to harness. And even the barbarous practice of docking his tail when he is put to some of these uses, eliminating one of his chief ornaments and robbing him of the God-given power of self-defense, does not destroy his matchless beauty and his unequaled grace.

TEST OF ENDURANCE

CAROLINA (American)

Against

NEDJRAN (Arabian).

The proposed test of endurance between the American saddle-bred horse and the Arabian horse, under Government auspices. Official correspondence relating thereto.

Chief of Staff,
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Sir: The following is clipped from a Boston paper:
"TO RIDE HIS ARAB ACROSS CONTINENT."
(Special Dispatch to Boston Herald.)

Junction City, Kan., April 10, 1907.

Second Lieut. E. E. W. McCabe, of the Sixth Cavalry, U. S. A., stationed at Ft. Riley, has been selected by the War Department to ride from Portland, Ore., across the Continent to New York City, on an Arabian stallion, to test the endurance of these horses. The distance by rail is 3,181 miles.

I have the pleasure to advise that the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association will be pleased to have furnished to the Government a horse which will start with the horse of any breed to make the test which is suggested in the above publication.

If not unreasonable, we should be glad to have the Government agree to pay the expense of transportation of the horse to the starting point, and we would like to ask, if it is practicable, in case the Government accepts the proposal to have the horse ridden by Lieut. Reed of the Sixth Cavalry.

I remain, my dear general,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

In referring to breeds I, of course, mean to confine competition to such established breeds as are recognized by the United States Government, through the Department of Agriculture. I assume the Government is consistent in its desire to improve the breeds of horses and do not believe much good would come except from tests between established breeds.

Your letter has been submitted to Secretary of War and to President, both of whom approve acceptance of horse to represent your Association. If Lieut. Reed is available and desires to undertake ride, no objection to his detail. Please let me know as soon as possible when and where you can turn over horse to Government for shipment. Entire test will be made without expense to Association.

Gen. J. F. Bell,
Chief of Staff,
Washington, D. C.

General: The American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association have pleasure to advise you of their willingness to contribute to the test of endurance of cavalry horses against all breeds of horses in the world, and march minimum of 500 miles, to carry a minimum weight of one hundred and seventy pounds, to terminate at the War Office in Washington City. We propose to furnish from three to five horses, so as to secure an average, because one horse cannot possibly secure a test, for the reason the horse or rider may become sick or disabled and there would be no representative.

We suggest respectfully that in case any such test is made anywhere, the rider should report at point of destination to a committee of competent cavalry officers who would determine the successful award by two considerations; first, the time, and second, the condition of the horse, and that 50 per cent for each consideration should be awarded. I do not mean physical condition altogether, but courage, willingness and ability to go further and do more.

I remain, my dear general,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

Jno. B. Castleman, President.

Louisville, May 7, 1907.

Gen. J. F. Bell,
Chief of Staff,
Washington, D. C.

General: I beg leave to state the horse furnished for the endurance test from Portland, Ore., to New York City, in accordance with agreement, will be subject to your order on Saturday, the 11th inst.

I do not believe it is at all necessary for any one horse in this test to wait for any other horse in the test. We might never get them all ready to start at one time. I think there ought to be an agreement as to time limit and I think that time limit should not exceed 140 days.

Thanking you and the department again for your courtesy, I have the honor to remain, dear sir,

Yours very truly,

Jno. B. Castleman, President.

Louisville, Ky., May 3, 1907.

To the Adjutant General of the Army,
Washington, D. C.

Sir: Complying with General Bell's request to confer hereafter directly with you, I am enclosing you a copy of note which I have just written to him, and beg to hold myself subject to your orders.

I beg to repeat that the horse, which is entirely a private horse, furnished at private risk for this test, without any responsibility whatever from the Government, will be ready on the 11th inst., in Louisville, subject to the Government's orders.

I shall be glad to hear that this horse will be ridden by Lieut. Reed. I have not felt at liberty to confer with Reed directly, but shall be pleased to do so with your permission.

I remain, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

Jno. B. Castleman, President.

Secretary War has no objections to your communicating directly with Lieutenant Reed relative to proposed ride. Question of his detail to be decided later by department.

Ainsworth, the Adjutant General.

Louisville, Ky., May 10, 1907.

Lieut. W. H. Reed,
Sixth Cavalry, U. S. A.

My Dear Reed: I am enclosing you a newspaper publication, a copy of a telegram from the Adjutant General's office, and am writing you, as you will observe, with the sanction of the Adjutant General.

The publication herewith explains itself. If my mare is to start on this trans-continental test I will esteem it a great compliment if you will ride her. If you ride her under authority of detail made by the Secretary of War, I will be glad to furnish you my saddle which I used in the Spanish War, unless you have something which you think to be better. If the test be made I would like to offer you a few suggestions before you leave, and should then allow the entire matter to rest in your good judgment and faithful care. You served under me long enough to enable me to know I can rely absolutely upon you.

Yours faithfully,

Jno. B. Castleman.

Fort Riley, Kan., May 21, 1907.

My Dear General: Arrived in this post from Yellowstone last night. Have talked over informally with some of the members of the cavalry board as to conditions, etc., of the long ride; in few days will send you map showing points which we are to touch, including Portland to Walla Walla, Mont., Boise, Ida., Cheyenne-Deures, Ft. Riley, Kansas City, St. Louis, Louisville, through Kentucky to Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Monistown, N. J. (Davenport place), etc., to New York as shown by R. R. map 3,482 miles, to which it's safe to add 300 for circuitous roads, making, all told, near 4,000 miles in round figures.

I feel much complimented at having been selected for the ride and at the many nice things which you have said to and about me. I thank you and promise in return to use every effort to win and bring Carolina home to you and Kentucky.

Sincerely your friend,

W. H. Reed.

The Hon. Jno. B. Castleman,

My Dear Sir: Pursuant to the request of General Bell, Chief of Staff of the Army, I am writing you relative to the contemplated cross-country journey from Oregon to New Jersey.

My last letter from Gen. Bell tells me that he has turned over our matter to the Adjutant General, and Gen. Bell suggests that possibly we could agree upon some shorter test to take place later on.

You, as a thorough horseman, see possibly at a glance the somewhat awkward position in which I am placed as things stand today. To commence with, I had but one horse in Oregon to choose from in a matter of a contest with other horses. This was somewhat against my liking when the trip took on the appearance and conditions of a race; still much worse than that condition, though, is the fact that my horse "Nedjran" has been very seriously ill, and my best efforts have failed to get any two men on the coast to agree upon the state of his health.

A letter from the veterinary last week to Dr. Earl T. Budd, state veterinary, Orange, N. J., says that the horse is in no fit condition to make such a test; at the same time the man (Mr. T. L. Davidson, Jr.) who is caring for the horse says that the horse is ready to start.

My imported mares, any one of which would have pleased me greatly in a contest such as we have had in mind, are heavy in foal, and if they were not so, would not be acclimated sufficiently for a contest of such importance, as they have never yet experienced the damp heat which in certain parts of the United States is the natural condition. My young stallions of the recent importation are three and four-year-olds and, as your horse-sense quickly tells you, are far too young for such a trip.

My idea, as was Gen. Bell's, was that this fall we could arrange a contest from Chicago to New York, carrying heavy weights, say, 250 pounds, eligible for every class of horse, and in that contest, where the horses would be compelled to go over the same roadway, we had looked forward, and do look forward, to a most interesting scramble.

I should like to have continued my original plan of having my horse ridden across Continent, and if he were to make that trip alone, I would ask now that they order Lieut. McCabe, Oregon, that he might be started at once, believing that any slight ailment that he has now as a result of his severe cold and congestion would soon be overcome by the change of atmosphere and conditions of the trip, but to enter him in a race against your superb mare without his being in perfect condition, would be, as you will admit, poor horsemanship.

I had placed the letters concerning the horse's health in General Bell's hands before ever hearing of a contest—thus, I believe, every thing so far as has been done high and dry above board. I much regret that we have drawn the War Department into so much work in connection with the details of this affair, but possibly the results before we are finished with our various tests of endurance will have benefited them beyond the trouble that has been entailed.

I shall be most happy, General Castleman, to have a letter concerning your wishes in the matter. I am taking the liberty of sending you, under separate cover, my catalogue of recent importations and of the World's Fair horses, also a photograph of "Nedjran," the stallion that is now in Oregon.

I remain, yours truly,

(Signed)

Homer Davenport.

Louisville, Ky., May 10, 1907.

Homer Davenport, Esq.,

Morris Plains, N. J.

My Dear Mr. Davenport: Referring to my respects of the 7th inst., I have now the pleasure to own receipt of your favor of the 6th idem. and from its contents I infer that because of the illness of your Arabian horse you will withdraw him from the trans-continental test.

I do not wish to embarrass you in the slightest, and realize that I am without invitation putting the American Saddle Horse on the road with your Arabian. I have today informed the Adjutant General that my horse is here subject to Government orders, as agreed. Inasmuch, however, as you have inaugurated this contest, and now indicate your preference, because of the condition of your horse, to withdraw from the contest, I leave the matter entirely for adjustment between yourself and the War Department. I shall be glad to conform to any wishes you may have, or any instructions of the War Office. I have complied with my agreement, but that is all I can do.

It is useless to make any test without a time limit and weight limit; any animal can go any distance with time enough to go at leisure and I have no doubt that both the limits above intimated would be, in any test, entirely agreeable to you.

If, for the reasons above referred to, you withdraw from the present test, I hope the Government will be good enough to sanction, say, a 500-mile test at any date during the current year, prior to November, the test to be confined, however, to not less than three representatives of each breed, and to be confined strictly to recognized breeds of horses; not as you say: "Eligible for every class of horses." I should not care myself about a contest of this sort. I am trying to help breeding, and am trying, above all things, to demonstrate the superiority of the American breeds.

I beg to repeat, my dear sir, inasmuch as I have no authority in this matter, that you confer with the War Office and make any arrangement which is agreeable to them, whether it be by modification, by change of dates and numbers of horses, or by going on with the proposed test.

I have the honor to remain, dear sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

Jno. B. Castleman, President.

May 3, 1907.

Gen. J. F. Bell,

Chief of Staff,

Washington, D. C.

My Dear General Bell: I am not disregarding your request to confer hereafter with the Adjutant General of the Army; I am merely writing a line to confirm my communication of this morning, which reads as follows, to-wit:

Gen. J. F. Bell,

Washington, D. C.

Yours twenty-ninth ultimo and thirtieth idem received.

I understood the proposal of Mr. Davenport, and never contemplated the Government would assume any responsibility for value of horses.

The American saddle horse furnished for the test will be here subject to the Government order, as agreed, on the eleventh instant. He is private property at private risk, furnished by prompting of public spirit, without conditions.

(Signed)

Jno. B. Castleman.

I wish further to say to you that I stated, merely incidentally in my personal lines, my first thought of furnishing for this test a very valuable mare. I did not suggest Government responsibility for the value of any horse I should supply, and did not suppose the Government would assume responsibility for any horse whatever.

I assume, as a matter of course, the start would be made in deference to Mr. Davenport's wish, or the condition of his horse, and I have no desire to ask any modification in respect to the test from Portland, Ore., to New York City. I proposed to make this march and the horse will be here as agreed on the 11th inst., to be turned over to the Government for that purpose, and I have no conditions whatever to suggest. I ventured to propose the name of Lieut. Reed, of the Sixth Cavalry, because I knew he was a good horseman and a good officer.

I shall write to the Adjutant General and send him a copy of this note, and shall also write a line to Mr. Davenport. I merely wish to add I did not contemplate involving the Government in voluminous correspondence; I only wish their sanction. The owners of breeds of horses will have to regulate their own affairs. I will advise the Adjutant General, however, I would not care to enter a competition against a lot of scrubs; all I ask is such breeds as are recognized by the Government. I want to encourage good horse breeding and at the same time be of incidental advantage to the Government.

I remain, my dear general,

Yours most truly,

(Signed)

Jno. B. Castleman, President.

WAR DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF STAFF, WASHINGTON.

May 4, 1907.

Gen. Jno. B. Castleman,

Louisville, Ky.

My Dear General: I am just in receipt of your letter of May 3d and wish to take off my hat to the uncompromising, stand-pat, sportsmanlike ring thereof.

There is no greater admirer of the Kentucky Saddle Horse than I am; in fact, I have long had a theory that the Kentucky running-walker, of proper constitution and type, is the cavalry horse par excellence of the world, and nothing would delight me more than to see my theory demonstrated so far as this test could do it. My faith in the Kentucky Saddle Horse is unshakeable, and I congratulate you most heartily upon the stand you have taken in this matter.

As I understand it, there is not going to be any "horse race" inaugurated, but a long-distance test of endurance. If any of the starters are worn out it will not be by violent riding, but will simply come from long-continued effort, resulting in exhaustion of physical strength and not by a strain on the vital organs. When a horse's physical strength is exhausted our officers and the veterinary surgeon ought to know it and be able to decide whether the horse is able to go any further. If he is not fit, he should stop and be properly cared for, and ought to recuperate within a little while without any injury to himself. Cavalry horses have frequently been thus ridden to a standstill, and I myself have ridden cavalry horses during a hard summer's work and on toward fall they would be so weak that a hard blast of wind coming from the side would make them stagger, and yet within three weeks after reaching the post, such horses would have recuperated and regained their strength without any damage whatever to themselves.

The foregoing represents my idea of the manner in which the horses should be used and although I see no particular objection to the length of the ride, I should gladly recommend acquiescence in any mutual arrangement that you and Mr. Davenport and other parties might enter into.

Hoping you every success in your effort to build up the Kentucky Saddle Horse Breed, and to demonstrate his superior qualities, I am,

Cordially and sincerely yours,

J. F. Bell.

DAVID CASTLEMAN

DIED IN CALIFORNIA, AUGUST 15, 1911.

---

The Board of Directors of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association are pained to record the death of the Registrar of this and the three previous volumes of our Register.

It is perhaps conceded that no one was so thoroughly versed in respect to the horse we breed, and few better informed as to the breeding of all lines of horses. His services have been invaluable to the American Saddle Horse.

We subjoin a few notices concerning this unusual man:

The Hon. Henry Watterson, Editor of the Courier-Journal, writing on August 16, 1911, says:

"David Castleman was my friend, faithful and just; he was an able, brave, improvident man who, if he had possessed the balance which you and I have, might have distanced both of us."

Richard W. Knott, Editor of the Louisville Evening Post, on August 17, 1911, writes:

"I think of David as a young man and boy getting ready for Lehigh University. It was then that I saw him most frequently. I recall him as a fine type of young man, eager to enter into the contests of life, loyal to his friends, handsome in his personality and attractive in address.

"In times of great sorrow one can look at least back through the memories to the things that have passed away with a certain comfort."

On August 16, 1911, Jouett Shouse, from Lexington, writes:

"I am not sorry that he is gone, despite the shock and grief his loss gives to all who knew him. His was a rough, hard journey. The ideals without which he could not be satisfied seemed always to be just ahead.

"Perhaps in that vast Beyond to which his earth-fettered soul has been carried he will find opportunities to carry out the purposes that dominated his brilliant mind.

"I knew him well, his faults as well as his virtues. I knew the qualities of courage and steadfastness which were his characteristics."
